BERGER'S WILL BEQUEST STILL OPEN QUESTION

Judge Curtin Reversed By Appellate Court Concerning Hospital Item.

Whether or not the City of Circleville will receive the Frank P. Berger bequest for a city hospital is still open to question following the decision handed down this week by the court of appeals in reversing the judgement of former Judge Clarence Curtin.

The court of appeals held that the court was without jurisdiction to interpret the item of the Berger will which makes the bequest to the city as the stipulated two year period for acceptance had not elapsed.

The appellate court also reversed the decision of Judge Curtin in which he held the administrator of the estate of the late Sarah J. Berger, widow of Frank P. Berger, was entitled to receive the income from the property held in trust for the widow. The appeals judges, in the decision given by Judges Mauck, Houck and Lambert, ruled "it is not the duty of the executor to pay any of the income derived by him from the property (in trust) to the administrator of the testator's widow." The appellate decision upheld the view that the testator's widow had died before the first of her annual income payments was due.

SNYDER APPEALS
The appeal was made by Irvin F. Snyder, surviving trustee under the will of Mr. Berger against Corilla E. Heffner and others. The city became a defendant party to the appeals on its cross petition in the common pleas court, asking for construction of the Berger will in regard to the hospital bequest.

Attorney Snyder represented himself as plaintiff-in-error. The attorneys for the defendants in error were C. A. Leist, Milt Morris, Paul E. Adkins, and Abernethy & Simpkins.

The appellate decision rules that the cross petition was not properly in the case; that neither the cross petition nor the original petition sought that the construction of the bequest be determined, and that the pleadings do not show that there will be any funds covered by the bequest item.

If these technical difficulties were removed, however, the decision says: "The cross petition could not be entertained as the city pleads nothing to indicate its acceptance of the benefits of the item mentioned. If it did not accept it might repudiate it within the two year period stipulated in the will. It has no interest until the two years after the death of Sarah J. Berger and Mrs. Berger died June 27, 1927, while this cross petition was filed July 25, 1928."

EXPRESSES SYMPATHY
"While we sympathize with the city's efforts to anticipate its rights and we are inclined upon the abstract question to view the language of the testator in the same light as the trial court we find that the court was without jurisdiction to interpret the ninth item of the will."

"The decree of the court is reversed and the cross petition of the City of Circleville is dismissed without prejudice."

The status of the Berger hospital bequest will not be determined, therefore, until after the two year period following the death of Mrs. Berger expires, according to the decision. At the expiration of Attorney Snyder, as trustee under the Berger will, or the City of Circleville to petition the common pleas court to construe the bequest that period it will be either up to item of the Berger will. The money involved in this item is between $25,000 and $40,000, it is estimated.

JESS C. DAVIS DIES

Funeral services for Jess C. Davis, 61, meat cutter, of Five Points, who died Tuesday night in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, from erysipelas, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday at Grange Hall, near Mt. Sterling. Burial will be at Hebron. Three sons and three daughters survive.

British Film Industry is Ruined By Invasion of American Talkie Movies

Production in England At Standstill—Five Years Is Needed To Recover.

LONDON, June 20.—American talking and sound pictures have killed the British film industry. Within the past year shareholders in British film companies have lost more than seven and a half million dollars.

Production work is generally at a standstill and the famous quota act, passed to stem the invasion of American pictures, has proved useless.

SUFFERS SEVERE BLOW
Statistics show that England's film industry has suffered a more severe blow than any of her industries in the last generation, and it is believed it will take at least five years to put it back on its feet.

While English producers have been arguing whether or not the "talkie" was going to be popular, and while dramatic critics have been discussing its possibilities as an art form, American sound pictures have invaded every "big time" movie house in London and crushed the silent film industry in the country to the ground.

The astounding situation is best revealed in the production figures of today and a year ago.

PEAK YEAR AGO
Twelve months ago the British film industry had reached its peak. Twenty full length feature films were being made by twelve British companies. Nine studios were working hard. A British financial house had secured control of German and French film companies for the purpose of forming the largest movie combine in the world.

This month has seen but four new pictures being produced. Against the 33 British films made in the first half of last year there have been only 11 to show this year. The president of the Film

Artists' Guild estimates that only five per cent of the film artists working last summer can find a livelihood today.

MEASLES LEAD ALL DISEASES

Communicable Maladies Since May 1 Exceed Those In Same Time Last Year

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—That at least 37,403 Ohioans were ill with communicable and other diseases since May 1, last according to official reports on file today at the state health department.

These records show that 17,747 cases of measles were reported, 3,224 cases of chickenpox, 3,493 of whooping cough, 2,269 of scarlet fever, 1,490 of tuberculosis, 947 cases of mumps, 753 of smallpox, 521 of diphtheria, 200 of occupational diseases, 102 of typhoid fever, and 6,662 cases of other diseases.

State health authorities declared that these reports disclosed the number of Ohioans ill with communicable diseases exceeded by more than 1,300 the number similarly afflicted during the same period last year.

Among the children there has been a greater prevalence of measles, whooping cough and chickenpox, it was stated. Adults are sharing in the sickness from smallpox.

The smallpox chart shows a downward tendency. Most of the current cases are scattered over the north central and southwestern parts of the state.

CITY TO ASK BEQUEST FROM BERGER WILL

Solicitor Ordered To Demand
Money—Council Agrees To Stipulations.

Following the decision of the court of appeals, holding that the item in the Frank P. Berger will bequeathing money to the city of Circleville for hospital purposes, cannot be construed until after the two year acceptance period has expired, City Solicitor Paul E. Adkins was instructed by council at its meeting Wednesday night to demand the money from the trustee, I. F. Snyder. The acceptance period ends Thursday, June 27.

A resolution, accepting the bequest of the Berger will and agreeing to its stipulations concerning the hospital, was passed by council. Further time was given to the public service committee in the matter of placing a fire hydrant in front of the hospital grounds.

HOSPITAL NOTE SOLD
It was reported by Councilman Neuding that another hospital note for $1,000 had been sold to the Ohio National bank at Columbus. H. F. Alkire, city engineer, provided council with the description of the small triangular piece of ground west of Pickaway-st which the Monclair Improvement Co. will donate to the city to add to the hospital grounds.

An ordinance increasing the salaries of the members of the fire and police departments in the sum of $10 per month was introduced and read for the first time. A resolution declaring it necessary to construct a sanitary sewer on Logan, Washington and Town-sts, was read for the first time and adopted under suspension of the rules.

An ordinance fixing the salary of the clerk of council and city treasurer, on and after Jan. 1, 1930, was read for the second time and then referred to the ordinance committee.

BONDS ARE SOLD
Councilman Baker reported that Harry Crist was asking the city to take care of the surface water from the north portion of the city so that this water will not continue to flow down on his lands. This matter was referred to the service committee.

A resolution was adopted accepting the bid of the First Citizens Corporation of Columbus of par, accrued interest to date of delivery, together with a premium of $71 for the bonds being issued to purchase a new fire truck, these bonds to bear interest at the rate of five and one-half per cent per annum.

YOUNG SCHREIBER STARTS FOR HOME

PARIS, June 20.—Having achieved his ambition and crossed the Atlantic by airplane, Arthur Schreiber, who stowed away in the fuselage of the monoplane "Yellow Bird," boarded a train for Cherbourg at 9:50 o'clock this morning to catch the liner Leviathan which sails for New York today.

Armeno Lotti, Jr., sponsor of the "Yellow Bird" flight and the stowaway's business manager, saw him off to the station.

Schreiber is sailing "tourist third." His passage costs $125. The money was advanced by Lotti. Schreiber expects to return the money from the profits he hopes to make as the result of his daring venture.

TWO DIE IN CRASH

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Army air officials at Rogers Field here today were investigating circumstances surrounding the fatal crash of a primary training plane which took the lives of Captain William J. Snyder, 34, pilot and chairman of Allegheny-co. Air board, and Private Harry C. Lafrentz, 29, regular army mechanic.

The small plane, a Stearman, was on a training flight when it crashed into a field near the airport. The bodies of the two men were found near the wreckage.

Border Shooting Accidental, Says Customs

The citizens of border towns in New York State are protesting what they term unwarranted shooting by Customs dry patrol. Arthur Gordon, right, was shot attempting to escape arrest, according to Lucien Bosworth, lower left, who claims to be an eyewitness of the happening. John C. Tulloch, Collector of Customs, reported that one of the agents tripped pursuing Gordon, his rifle fired accidentally and killed the unfortunate youth. They then took him to the hospital and left to report to headquarters, many miles away. Lower right shows the customs house from which the agents are said to have pursued Gordon. Upper left is the family of the boy. Left to right, Sydney, his brother; Mrs. Emma Stay, his mother; Frank Stay, step-father, and Gene, another brother.

Capital University Makes Rev.
G. J. Troutman "Doctor of Divinity."

During the commencement exercises at Capital university at Columbus on Wednesday morning, an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. G. J. Troutman of Circleville.

He graduated from Capital College in 1892. Three years later he graduated from the Theological Seminary at Capital. Rev. Troutman served on the Home Mission Board for 16 years and as district president of the Eastern district of the Joint Synod of Ohio for a number of years. He has contributed frequently to Lutheran periodicals, and for many years has been a member of the Capital University board.

He has been a member of the Missionary committee for a number of years and has the distinction of having been pastor at the Circleville Trinity Lutheran church for the past 31 years. He has been the speaker at very many congregational meetings and public gatherings throughout the synod. In view of all of these services which he has given to his church, the school from which he graduated has bestowed this high honor, of doctor of divinity. His son, George Troutman, graduated at the same time from the Theological seminary, and will take up his duties immediately as assistant to his father at the Circleville church. He has already been ordained.

Rev. Troutman has aunt, Mrs. Mena Troutman, and his little niece, Anna Marie, of Butler, Penna., and his son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. George Schuster and daughter Alice Evangeline, of Greenville, were present at the graduation Wednesday and are now guests of Rev. and Mrs. Troutman at their home on E. Mound-st.

More significant, perhaps, than the actual accomplishments of the sixty days' session was the temper congress displayed toward the new administration. While the house with its strong disciplinary leadership, proved docile enough to the President's wishes, not so the senate. There is, of course, no doubt that a coalition of Democrats and Republicans can on any given occasion, defeat the White House.

It was twice proved in the farm relief fight by addition of the debtors plan in the face of the President's earnest and emphatic disapproval. It was proved again by the senate's refusal to appoint

INFANT CHILD DIES
Rev. Geo. J. Troutman of Trinity Lutheran church officiated at the funeral services at 1:30 p. m. Thursday for Roy Stout, Jr., infant son of Roy and Viola Holloway Stout whose death occurred a few minutes after birth at their home, 654 N. Court-st., Wednesday. Rebellious Congress Quits Its Work With Only Half of Program Finished

Hard Battle Between Hoover
and Lawmakers Over
Tariff Is Indicated.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A rebellious and insurgent congress snarled its way homeward today, leaving half the things President Hoover wanted done not done, and with the threat that when it reassembles in late summer there will be fireworks aplenty.

The first session of the 71st congress—the so-called "honeymoon session"—of the new administration—was anything but harmonious. Grudgingly, and by dint of very adroit political maneuvering, it gave President Hoover the kind of a farm relief bill he wanted, and it passed the reappointment bill which he recommended. There it stopped.

TARIFF UNFINISHED
It left behind today a tariff bill half-finished, and it is the kind of a tariff bill that is giving President Hoover and his advisers cold shivers. Mr. Hoover wanted "limited revision" for agriculture and a few "sick industries." The house has provided him, instead, with a bill revising more than 2,000 schedules upward, which senate Republicans have every intention of increasing if possible. If this tariff bill passes in anything like its present for late this summer, it will put a pretty problem up to Mr. Hoover whether to veto it or approve it.

Thus, in the eternal conflict between the executive and legislative branches of the government, there appeared today to be about standstill, with round two coming up in late August and September.

More significant, perhaps, than the actual accomplishments of the sixty days' session was the temper congress displayed toward the new administration. While the house with its strong disciplinary leadership, proved docile enough to the President's wishes, not so the senate. $50,000 FARM FIRE
FREMONT, O., June 20.—Spontaneous combustion was believed to have caused the fire which yesterday destroyed a barn on Michael Wagner's stock farm and killed several head of prize cattle. The loss was placed at $50,000.

The prosecutive staff of the county auditor, including County Auditor John J. Chisler, is believed that the prosecutive staff reviewing what had been done toward determining the status of the case.

In the absence of an official announcement of any conference, Dr. Snook, the holder of the grand jury will be asked to appear on the evidence and to return the verdict in the case.

CONTRADICTIONS
The grilling of Snook started at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Probers, seven of them, worked relays. It was the most grilling third-degree in police annals since Snook maintained a resolute calmness until 3 o'clock this morning. Then he became nervous, and according to Chief Kneiser, contradicted himself.

At the end of the 16-hour grilling, officials permitted Snook to be taken from the city to the county jail for breakfast. At 7:45 they dashed after him and entered his cell. He was again grilling until about 10 o'clock when the officers took the prisoner back to the city jail where the grilling was resumed.

DAMAGING ADMISSIONS
Other authorities questioned the doctor until 11:45. Then they turned in Detective City Police Officer who secured the "damaging admissions" from Snook during the night. "Facts" known as the "acc" of police cross-examiners.

Phillips ate breakfast with the prisoner this morning following the 16-hour grilling which lasted throughout the night.

The detective announced, later in the morning, that he asked the former professor: "Why did you kill the girl?" Snook replied he had been advised "not to talk."

Phillips declared he repeated his question and that Snook answered: "She had been begging me for cocaine. Wait until it comes out."

Attorneys for Snook announced at noon that they would not attempt to obtain a writ of habeas corpus in an attempt to liberate their client, as they had contemplated earlier in the day.

Mrs. Snook, wife of the former Ohio State university professor, was questioned by authorities Tuesday. Discrepancies between the information she gave and the statements of her husband are believed to have caused Snook to become muddled in his answers this morning.

The woman told investigators that she did not know of the relationship between Snook and Miss Hix until after the murder.

DISMISSED FROM O. S. U.
During the early stages of the investigation, Dr. Snook admitted he had lived, part of his time, with Miss Hix in their "love nest" as husband and wife. Subsequently, President George W. Hughes of Ohio State university dismissed Snook as professor of veterinary medicine at the college, with a salary of $3,600 a year.

OHIO AERIAL CHIEF
COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Attorney John M. Prosecutor Has Conference—
Grand Jury is Recalled
For Friday.

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Sitting that Dr. James H. Snook, who underwent a severe grilling all night Wednesday and Thursday morning, had made "damaging admissions," Attorney General J. M. Vorys, County Prosecutor Ray Phelan, and others, who were present at the conference, had concluded the grilling of the doctor, who had admitted the murder of Miss Hix, Ohio State university professor, that he had admitted the murder.

The announcement of Attorney General Phelan was made this afternoon before noon. The doctor was admitted to a conference at 5 o'clock with the county auditor and Columbus police who have been investigating the murder of the young medical student.

Forty-five minutes after the conference started, no word had been received concerning the information being given by the prosecutive staff. County Auditor John J. Chisler is believed that the prosecutive staff reviewing what had been done toward determining the status of the case.

In the absence of an official announcement of any conference, Dr. Snook, the holder of the grand jury will be asked to appear on the evidence and to return the verdict in the case.

Rev. Geo. J. Troutman of Trinity Lutheran church officiated at the funeral services at 1:30 p. m. Thursday for Roy Stout, Jr., infant son of Roy and Viola Holloway Stout whose death occurred a few minutes after birth at their home, 654 N. Court-st, Wednesday. The body of the infant was interred in Forest cemetery under the direction of the W. H. Albaugh Co.

Rebellious Congress Quits Its Work With Only Half of Program Finished

Hard Battle Between Hoover
and Lawmakers Over
Tariff Is Indicated.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A rebellious and insurgent congress snarled its way homeward today, leaving half the things President Hoover wanted done not done, and with the threat that when it reassembles in late summer there will be fireworks aplenty.

The first session of the 71st congress—the so-called "honeymoon session" of the new administration—was anything but harmonious. Grudgingly, and by dint of very adroit political maneuvering, it gave President Hoover the kind of a farm relief bill he wanted, and it passed the reappointment bill which he recommended. There it stopped.

TARIFF UNFINISHED
It left behind today a tariff bill half-finished, and it is the kind of a tariff bill that is giving President Hoover and his advisers cold shivers. Mr. Hoover wanted "limited revision" for agriculture and a few "sick industries." The house has provided him, instead, with a bill revising more than 2,000 schedules upward, which senate Republican leaders have every intention of increasing if possible. If this tariff bill passes in anything like its present form late this summer, it will put a pretty problem up to Mr. Hoover whether to veto it or approve it.

More significant, perhaps, than the actual accomplishments of the sixty days' session was the "temper" congress displayed toward the new administration. While the house, with its strong disciplinary leadership, proved docile enough to the President's wishes, not so the senate. There, as of yore, it was proved on numerous occasions that a coalition of Democrats and Republicans can, on any given occasion, defeat the White House.

It was twice proved in the farm relief fight by adoption of the debenture plan in the face of the President's earnest and emphatic disapproval. It was proved again by the senate's refusal to appoint the prohibition committee Mr. Hoover asked for.

Probably no new president has ever been so extravagantly praised nor so savagely criticized as was Mr. Hoover in the sixty days that his "honeymoon congress" was in session.

ROB TOM MIX OF HUGE SUM

Valet of Film Star Arrested—
Loss Estimated at $75,000
—Gems Missed.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. June 20.—Tom Mix, the "cowboy movie star and circus performer," has been robbed of $75,000.

This became known today when City Marshal George H. Ducker and Patrolman Dennis Kelley arrested Carl Frybendahl, 33, native of Denmark and valet for Mix.

The arrest of Frybendahl was made in a spectacular manner. The circus train, to which the private car of Mix was attached, was halted in the railroad yards as it was pulling out for Concord.

Frybendahl protested his innocence. He was taken to police headquarters and booked as a suspicious person.

The cash bonds, checks, credit slips and real estate deeds missing from the Mix car were not found, police said.

The missing property, Mix told police, was kept in a specially made bag to fit in a box under the berth of Mix in his private car. The missing bag contained, police announced, the following: $35,000 worth of credit slips, $4,000 worth of banker's checks, $25,000 in liberty bonds, $8,000 in other bonds, $7,000 in cash and several real estate deeds.

Mix told police that $6,500 in jewelry, also in the box beneath the berth had been overlooked.

OHIO AERIAL CHIEF

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Attorney John M. Vorys, Columbus, world-war naval aviator and former state senator, today was preparing for the assumption of his new duties as chief of the state department of aeronautics. Announcement of his appointment, effective June 25, was made last night at the offices of Gov. Myers Y. Cooper. The position pays $3,600 a year.

CONFESSION TO CRIME DENIED IN STATEMENT

Prosecutor Has Conference—
Grand Jury is Recalled
For Friday.

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Assailing that Dr. James H. Snook, who underwent a severe grilling all night Wednesday and Thursday morning, had made "incriminating admissions," Assistant County Prosecutor Ray Phelan emphatically denied this afternoon that the suspected college professor had confessed the details of the brutal murder of Miss Theora Hix, Ohio State university co-ed, or that he had admitted the slaying.

The announcement of Assistant Prosecutor Phelan was made this afternoon before newspapermen were admitted to a conference at 3 o'clock with the county authorities and Columbus police who have been investigating the murder of the young medical student.

Forty-five minutes after the conference started, no word had been received concerning the information being given out by Prosecutor John J. Chester. It is believed that the prosecutor was reviewing what had been done toward determining the identity of the slayer.

In the absence of an official announcement of any confession from Dr. Snook, the belief was expressed that all the information accumulated by the investigators will be presented to the grand jury, which will be recalled into session at 9 a. m. tomorrow. At that time, it is expected that the grand jury will be asked to pass on the evidence and to return indictments in the case.

CONTRADICTS SELF
The grilling of Snook started at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The probers, seven of them, worked in relays. It was the most grueling third-degree in police annals here.

Snook maintained a remarkable calmness until 3 o'clock this morning. Then he became nervous, and according to Chief Shellenberger, contradicted himself.

At the end of the 16-hour questioning, officials permitted Snook to be taken from the city to the county jail for breakfast. At 7:45 they dashed after him and entered his cell. He was again grilled until about 10 o'clock when the officers took the prisoner back to the city jail where the third-degreeing was resumed.

DAMAGING ADMISSIONS
Other authorities questioned the doctor until 11:45. Then they called in Detective Otto Phillips, the officer who secured the alleged damaging admissions from Snook during the night. Phillips is known as the "ace" of police cross-examiners.

Phillips ate breakfast with the prisoner this morning, following the 16-hour grilling which lasted throughout the night.

The detective announced, later in the morning, that he asked the former professor:

"Why did you kill the girl?"
Snook replied he had been advised "not to talk."

Phillips declared he repeated his question and that Snook answered:

BEGGED FOR COCAINE
"She had been begging me for cocaine. Wait until it comes out." Attorneys for Snook announced at noon that they would not attempt to obtain a writ of habeas corpus in an attempt to liberate their client, as they had contemplated earlier in the day.

Mrs. Snook, wife of the former Ohio State university professor, was questioned by authorities Tuesday. Discrepancies between the information she gave and the statements of her husband are believed to have caused Snook to become muddled in his answers this morning.

The woman told investigators that she did not know of the relationship between Snook and Miss Hix until after the murder.

DISMISSED FROM O. S. U.
During the early stages of the investigation, Dr. Snook admitted he had lived, part of his time, with Miss Hix in their "love nest" as husband and wife. Subsequently, President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State university dismissed Snook as professor of veterinary medicine at the college, due (Turn to page 3 please)

WOODSHED AHEAD OF YOUNG HEFLIN
WASHINGTON, June 20.—There is likely to be another woodshed meeting between Senator J. Thomas Heflin, Sr. (D) of Alabama, and his son J. Thomas Heflin, Jr.
"Young Tom" is in trouble again. He was at liberty today under $1,000 bond, charged with driving an automobile "while under the influence of drugs." He was arrested after his automobile crashed into the rear end of a laundry truck on Pennsylvania avenue when the traffic light turned against him at Seventh street.

But the drug part of it is all wrong, according to the senator's son. He told the police he had taken some veronal tablets, but that was a ruse, he admitted today, to conceal the fact that he had taken on several drinks before starting out in his car.
INVERSHIN WINNER
ASCOT, ENG., June 20.—In one of the most brilliant Ascot races in years, Invershin, owned by Reid Walker, today won the historic Ascot gold cup event. Reigh Count, Mrs. John D. Hertz, American thoroughbred, was second. Pals Royal II, was third.

Hurls Polo Challenge
Through Sir Harold Shagge, the Hurlingham Club of England has mailed a preliminary note to the United States Polo Association announcing its plan to send a civilian team here in 1930 to compete for the international polo cup which has been in America since Harry Payne Whitney sent a team to England.

40 CONVICTS FLEE PRISON
HOUSTON, Texas, June 20.—Disarming and kidnapping four guards, approximately 40 prisoners escaped from Clemens state prison farm in Brazoria county shortly before dawn today.
Shortly after daybreak, the guards returned to the farm and with W. M. Hickman, manager of the farm, a large posse was organized for a widespread search for the convicts.
Only meager details could be obtained from the farm about the escape.

Seeks More Honors
Leo Diegel, U. S. pro golf champion and Canadian open champ as well, will have to have his nerves with him when he plays the tough Wingfoot course at Mamaroneck, N. Y., in the national open. He was a sensation in the qualifying rounds of the British open, but his nerve crashed later. Leo is not a stylist with his wiggling stance and high-teed ball. Usually on the line, he becomes as wild as a hawk when his nerves go. Look to see his name well up with the leaders this year.

SOCIETY LEADERS IN DRY CAMPAIGN
PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—A "dry" drive among leaders of Philadelphia society was under way today, under leadership of Mrs. George H. Strawbridge.
"Force of example" was to be used, rather than a sensational campaign, to dry up the higher social realms in the city, and to back the law enforcement plea of President Hoover.
Mrs. Strawbridge sent letters to a number of persons prominent in social and business life here, urging that they back the plan to abolish intoxicating liquors in their spheres.

HATCHER CAUGHT IN SEVERE STORM
Manager Hatcher of the Metropolitan theatre motored to Springfield Wednesday to arrange for shipping his furniture to Circleville and before leaving Springfield, was caught in the cloud-burst that hit that section, drowning a boy on the streets there.
Hatcher stated that so much water fell that the sewers were unable to take care of it and the cellar of his home was filled with 8 feet of water. Mr. Hatcher's auto was caught in the flood and it was necessary to pull it out before he was able to return to Circleville.

to his "moral delinquencies."
Murdered the night of June 13, the body of the attractive co-ed, who had been a medical student at the university, was not found until the following noon. The head had been almost beaten to a pulp, apparently by a hammer. The throat had been slashed, and the body was a mass of bruises. So brutally battered was it that identification was not made until the following day.

FATHER OF SLAIN GIRL HIRES LAWYER
COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—"It is my one and only aim to face the murderer of my daughter."
That statement was made here by Melvin T. Hix, of Bradenton, Fla., father of attractive 25-year-old Theora Hix, who was brutally battered to death on the outskirts of the city the night of June 13.
"I'm a poor man," continued Hix, "but I will do everything I can to bring the murderer to justice."
The Florida has retained Boyd B. Haddock, former president of the Franklin County Bar association, as his attorney.

LANCASTER GIRL IS VICTIM OF ATTACK
LANCASTER, O., June 20.—Search was renewed today for the unidentified man who escaped after trying to assault 15-year-old Helen Leonard Wednesday night. Her assailant dragged Helen to a vacant lot after hitting her on the head with some sharp weapon. Dazed, she escaped and ran home. The assault occurred while she was standing on the street.
Aided by bloodhounds from Pomeroy, a posse of citizens and police were seeking the trail of the assailant.

LORAIN GETS NEXT G. A. R. CONVENTION
FINDLAY, O., June 20.—Lorain was chosen as the place for holding next year's G. A. R. encampment. This decision was reached here yesterday at the closing session of the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of Ohio.
Annual election of officers resulted as follows: Department Commander of Ohio, S. A. Williams, Wellington; senior vice commander, John H. King, Findlay; junior vice commander, E. B. Adams, Cincinnati; chaplain, Rev. E. J. Smith, Cuyahoga Falls; re-elected, medical director, Dr. A. E. Garrett, Gallopis.

FINE HEARSE IS PURCHASED

Movable Table Does Away With Placing the Casket Through Rear Doors.

Fred C. Clark of the Albaugh Co., has just completed an investigation and study of the most modern method of conducting funeral services and as a result of his investigation, the Albaugh Co. has purchased a Henney "Nu-3-Way" hearse equipped with a manually operated casket table.

With this new equipment it is possible to do away entirely with the old, and in many ways, objectionable practice of placing the casket in the hearse through the rear door. The exclusive features of this new hearse permit of a more reverent, dignified service, as the casket when placed upon the table glides with respectful dignity to its position inside the luxuriously appointed hearse.

Not so many years ago, people who owned automobiles, entered the tonneau by a 12 inch door located in the center of the rear of the body. To do this they first had to step down from the walk or curb into the mud and dirt of the street, then mount a step or two thus climbing into the automobile. The driver who was seated on the right, with gear shift and brake levers at his right, was compelled to enter and leave the automobile via the left side and walk around in the street until by circling his automobile he at last reached the curb and the walk.

Although this was changed in passenger cars several years ago, motor hearses have until very recently, followed the outgrown method of having only a rear door forcing the casket bearers to step down from the curb and walk in the street.

This situation is entirely changed by the Henney Nu-3-Way hearse, and with the perfecting of the electrically operated casket table a new method of conducting funerals has come into being—a method so far in advance of the old way, that funeral directors in all parts of the country are adopting it.

Save the Garden And Save Money

(By Catherine Behmyer)
(Home Demonstration Agent)

During the warm summer days, the garden is an attraction with the various vegetables growing ready to be used. It can be made to be a real attraction for the winter months, if the products are saved. One of our best methods of preservation is canning.

You can start your savings account when you start canning. It requires time as well as effort, but worthwhile things all require work.

Have you ever spent several hours canning and after the process was completed your cans were about two-thirds full? Shrinkage may be caused by various things. It may occur during the sterilization, because of improper or insufficient blanching and cold dipping. It may be caused from insufficient packing in the cans. Uniform pieces will shrink less, because better packing can be insured. If the sterilization is for too long a period, the same faulty may occur. The amount and size of the product put into the can will have an effect. The juicy fruits will tend to shrink more, so care must be taken. Shrinkage has no effect on the keeping of the product, if thoroughly sterilized and properly sealed.

GOOD PICTURES ARE SCHEDULED AT MET

It is a relief to find comedy relief—particularly in a railroad melodrama that is geared as high as a racing car and zooms along from one smashing situation to another like a runaway airplane. In "The Warning Signal," W. T. Lackey has contrived to make a rattling railroad story that is filled with laughs, beautifully peppered with the stuff that real humor is made of.

The production, released by Ellbee Pictures, holding the screen at the Met Theater Thursday and Friday, is acted with great individual brilliance by a cast composed of Kenneth Meade, Gladys Hulette, Lincoln Stedman, William Turner, Clarence Burton, Martha Mattox and others.

As befits a strong novel of Western life in the days when men reached for a six-shooter instead of a sweet, a strong cast is to be seen in the Paramount picturization of the famous Zane Grey best-seller, "Stairs of Sand" which comes to the Met Theater for two days on Sunday and Monday.

Wallace Beery, the character actor of "The Pony Express" and "Old Ironsides" fame, heads the list in the role of a sympathetic bandit in the desert wastes of Arizona.

Frozen tears halted the filming of one scene in Emil Jannings' latest production, "Betrayal," which is booked for showing at the Met Theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Esther Ralston, featured in the cast, was doing a crying scene on a bitterly cold night. Director Lewis Milestone noticed something wrong with the tears. "They look like ice," he said. And they were.

one of its kind in the state of Ohio and is positively the last word in funeral equipment. It is handsomely upholstered in heavy plush of a deep blue color and wicker baskets for flowers extend over the table on which the casket reposes.

Mr. Clark expects to await the perfecting of an appliance to operate the tablet electrically. At present this can be done but it is attached to the motor and is accompanied by a small sound which the Henney Co. is working to eliminate. Wide doors in the rear of the hearse permit the removing of the casket in a place where the side opening would be inconvenient.

The hearse is of a deep blue color and the driver's seat and another seat are enclosed with the casket. The seat opposite that of the driver is moved forward when the table is being operated.

In fact everything has been done to make the conducting of a funeral both dignified and impressive.

Too Weighty for Autos

The bureau of standards says that automobiles could be run successfully on natural gas, but the gas would have to be compressed into steel cylinders which would add considerable weight. The amount of natural gas equivalent to five gallons of gasoline would require enormous containers if it were not compressed.

Save the Garden And Save Money

(By Catherine Behymer)

(Home Demonstration Agent)

During the warm summer days, the garden is an attraction with the various vegetables growing ready to be used. It can be made to be a real attraction for the winter months, if the products are saved. One of our best methods of preservation is canning.

You can start your savings account when you start canning. It requires time as well as effort, but worthwhile things all require work.

Have you ever spent several hours canning and after the process was completed your cans were about two-thirds full? Shrinkage may be caused by various things. It may occur during the sterilization, because of improper or insufficient blanching and cold dipping. It may be caused from insufficient packing in the cans. Uniform pieces will shrink less, because better packing can be insured. If the sterilization is for too long a period, the same fancy may occur. The amount and size of the product put into the can will have an effect. The juicy fruits will tend to shrink more, so care must be taken. Shrinkage has no effect on the keeping of the product, if thoroughly sterilized and properly sealed.

GOOD PICTURES ARE SCHEDULED AT MET

It is a relief to find comedy relief—particularly in a railroad melodrama that is geared as high as a racing car and zooms along from one smashing situation to another like a runaway airplane. In "The Warning Signal," W. T. Lackey has contrived to make a rattling railroad story that is filled with laughs, beautifully peppered with the stuff that real humor is made of.

The production, released by Eilbee Pictures, holding the screen at the Met Theater Thursday and Friday, is acted with great individual brilliance by a cast composed of Kenneth Meade, Gladys Huette, Lincoln Stedman, William Turner, Clarence Burton, Martha Mattox and others.

As befits a strong novel of Western life in the days when men reached for a six-shooter instead of a sweet, a strong cast is to be seen in the Paramount pictureization of the famous Zane Grey best-seller, "Stairs of Sand" which comes to the Met Theater for two days on Sunday and Monday.

Wallace Beery, the character actor of "The Pony Express" and "Old Ironsides" fame, heads the list in the role of a sympathetic bandit in the desert wastes of Arizona.

Frozen tears halted the filming of one scene in Emil Jennings' latest production, "Betrayal," which is booked for showing at the Met Theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Esther Ralston, featured in the cast, was doing a crying scene on a bitterly cold night. Director Lewis Milestone noticed something wrong with the tears "They look like ice," he said. And they were.

ROBTOWN

Children's services will be observed at our church next Sunday evening, June 23rd.

Kathryn Malone, Elizabeth Huston and Caroline Rowe will go to Lancaster Tuesday as delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention. Miss Eloise Wolford and Dorothy Finley will also attend the convention.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fosnaugh was buried last Thursday in the cemetery at Harrisburg. Mrs. Walter Huston sold a bunch of 139 young chickens last week, bringing a net sum of $113.20. Thomas Shephard spent Sunday with his daughter, Grace and husband in Chillicothe. Our S. S. received banner No. 3at the County S. S. convention Thursday, June 13. George Radcliff of Fox, and daughter Virginia, of Nevada, took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huston Wednesday of last week. Mr. Pollyanna The brakeman awoke in the hospital to find that he had lost a leg. Looking hastily down he murmured: "Aunt goodness! It was the one that had the rheumatism." —Santa Fe Magazine

WOODSHED AHEAD OF YOUNG HEFLIN

WASHINGTON, June 20.—There is likely to be another woodshed meeting between Senator J. Thomas Heflin, Sr., (D) of Alabama, and his son J. Thomas Heflin, Jr.

"Young Tom" is in trouble again. He was at liberty today under $1,000 bond, charged with driving an automobile "while under the influence of drugs." He was arrested after his automobile crashed into the rear end of a laundry truck on Pennsylvania avenue when the traffic light turned against him at Seventh street.

But the drug part of it is all wrong, according to the senator's son. He told the police he had taken some veronal tablets, but that was a ruse, he admitted today, to conceal the fact that he had taken on several drinks before starting out in his car.

INVERSHIN WINNER

ASCOT, ENG., June 20.—In one of the most brilliant Ascot races in years, Invershin, owned by Reid Walker, today won the historic Ascot gold cup event. Reigh Count, Mrs. John D. Hertz, American thoroughbred, was second. Palais Royal II, was third.

Hurls Polo Challenge

Through Sir Harold Shagge, the Hurlingham Club of England has mailed a preliminary note to the United States Polo Association announcing its plan to send a civilian team here in 1930 to compete for the international polo cup which has been in America since Harry Payne Whitney sent a team to England.

FATHER OF SLAIN GIRL HIRES LAWYER

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—"It is my one and only aim to face the murderer of my daughter."

That statement was made here by Melvin T. Hix, of Bradenton, Fla., father of attractive 25-year-old Theora Hix, who was brutally battered to death on the outskirts of the city the night of June 13.

"I'm a poor man," continued Hix, "but I will do everything I can to bring the murderer to justice."

The Floridian has retained Boyd B. Haddock, former president of the Franklin County Bar association, as his attorney.

DIES IN COLUMBUS

The death of Mrs. Simon May of E. Noble-st., Columbus, occurred Thursday morning, June 20, at 5 o'clock. Mrs. May was formerly Mrs. Jennie Helvering of this county, and was a cousin of Mrs. John Wertman of E. Franklin-st.

Funeral announcements will be announced later. Burial will be in Reber Hill cemetery.

40 CONVICTS FLEE PRISON

HOUSTON, Texas, June 20.—Disarming and kidnaping four guards, approximately 40 prisoners escaped from Clemens state prison farm in Brazoria county shortly before dawn today.

Shortly after daybreak, the guards returned to the farm and with W. M. Hickman, manager of the farm, a large posse was organized for a widespread search for the convicts.

Only meager details could be obtained from the farm about the escape.

SOCIETY LEADERS IN DRY CAMPAIGN

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—A "dry" drive among leaders of Philadelphia society was under way today, under leadership of Mrs. George H. Strawbridge.

"Force of example" was to be used, rather than a sensational campaign, to dry up the higher social realms in the city, and to back the law enforcement plea of President Hoover.

Mrs. Strawbridge sent letters to a number of persons prominent in social and business life here, urging that they back the plan to abolish intoxicating liquors in their spheres.

HATCHER CAUGHT IN SEVERE STORM

Manager Hatcher of the Metropolitan theatre motored to Springfield Wednesday to arrange for shipping his furniture to Circleville and before leaving Springfield, was caught in the cloud-burst that hit that section, drowning a boy on the streets there. Hatcher stated that so much water fell that the sewers were unable to take care of it and the cellar of his home was filled with 8 feet of water. Mr. Hatcher's auto was caught in the flood and it was necessary to pull it out before he was able to return to Circleville.

LANCASTER GIRL IS VICTIM OF ATTACK

LANCASTER, O., June 20.—Search was renewed today for the unidentified man who escaped after trying to assault 15-year-old Helen Leonard Wednesday night. Her assailant dragged Helen to a vacant lot after hitting her on the head with some sharp weapon. Dazed, she escaped and ran home. The assault occurred while she was standing on the street.

Aided by bloodhounds from Pomeroy, a posse of citizens and police were seeking the trail of the assailant.

LORAIN GETS NEXT G. A. R. CONVENTION

FINDLAY, O., June 20.—Lorain was chosen as the place for holding next year's G. A. R. encampment. This decision was reached here yesterday at the closing session of the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of Ohio.

Annual election of officers resulted as follows: Department Commander of Ohio, S. A. Williams, Wellington; senior vice commander, John H. King, Findlay; junior vice commander, E. B. Adams, Cincinnati; chaplain, Rev. E. J. Smith, Cuyahoga Falls, re-elected; medical director, Dr. A. B. Garrett, Gallipolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Speakman were visitors in Columbus on Thursday.

Seeks More Honors

Leo Diegel, U. S. pro golf champion and Canadian open champ as well, will have to have his nerves with him when he plays the tough Wingfoot course at Mamaroneck, N. Y., in the national open. He was a sensation in the qualifying rounds of the British open, but his nerve crashed later. Leo is not a stylist with his wiggling stance and high-teed ball. Usually on the line, he becomes as wild as a hawk when his nerves go. Look to see his name well up with the leaders this year.

to his "moral delinquencies." Murdered the night of June 13, the body of the attractive co-ed, who had been a medical student at the university, was not found until the following noon. The head had been almost beaten to a pulp, apparently by a hammer. The throat had been slashed, and the body was a mass of bruises. So brutally battered was it that identification was not made until the following day.

The horrible remains were discovered by two boys who were walking through the weeds of a "rifle range" in the northwestern part of the city—the range which Dr. Snook, a crack shot and a former member of the U. S. Olympic rifle team, frequented.

The murder was one of the most baffling "mysteries" officials have ever attempted to solve. Miss Hix was recognized by a very few persons as Mrs. Snook at the cozy one room apartment where she spent some of her time with the married college professor, but on the university campus and at the room which, the Bradenton, Fla., girl shared with two sisters, she was generally known as a quiet, studious and ambitious young woman—and a hater of men.

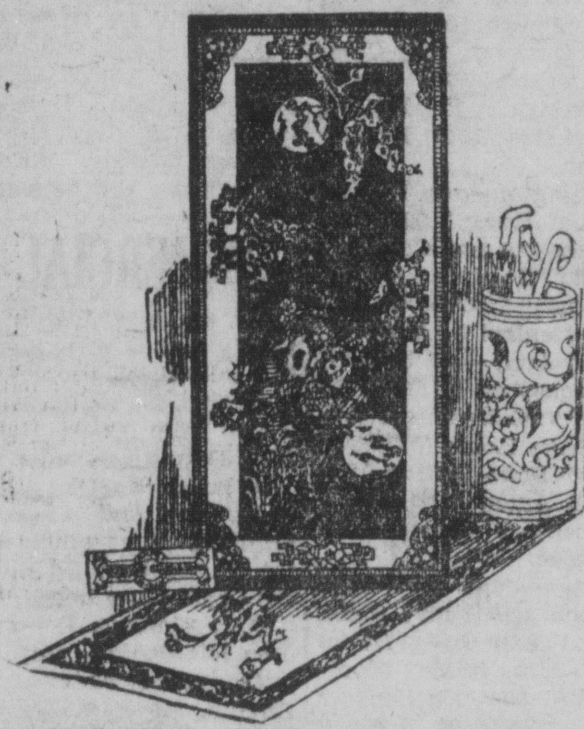

Consequently the revelation that the girl had lived with the doctor as his wife caused a sensation.

Besides Snook, another Ohio State university man, Marion T. Meyers, 35, member of the agricultural college faculty, was also held for investigation in connection with the murder. He was placed in jail, without bond, June 15, and was not released until yesterday.

Suspicion was not directed at Meyers, but police thought Meyers knew much about Snook and Miss Hix. Meyers admitted he knew the co-ed intimately, and stated he had begged her to marry him. At one time Miss Hix broke away from Snook and was much in the company of Meyers, but she later returned to the doctor.

Because Meyers admitted an intimate relationship with the co-ed, President Rightmire of the university notified him, following his release from custody, that he would recommend his dismissal to university trustees.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and

B. Caldwell, M.D.
AT AGE 83

hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.

"Yellow Bird" Stowaway French Pet

There have been all sorts of air records made—the first trans-Atlantic hop, the first non-stop trans-Atlantic solo flight, the re-fueling endurance record, et cetera, but the first non-stop trans-Atlantic plane to carry a stowaway was the French ship, "Yellow Bird," which took off from Old Orchard, Me., quite innocent of the fact that it carried Arthur Schreiber, 22-year-old Portland boy. Here is Arthur being carried on the shoulders of an admiring throng upon the arrival of the airplane at Le Bourget airport, France, where the Maine boy was greeted with almost as much acclaim as the fliers, Lotti, Assolant and Lefevre.

The sponsors of the dance are Jim Gattrell, Felix Smith, Bob Smith, John Abernethy, Ralph Morris, Bob Palm, Sam Nagle and Tom Ryan. Sam Nagle of Jersey City, is the guest of Felix Smith.

Oxen Play Important Part in Korean Life

The Korean people are most industrious workers of the soil, and from time immemorial oxen have borne the brunt of the battle. Methods of cultivation preclude the use of mechanical devices and, as the native horse is too small for farm labor, the farmer's main beast of burden is his ox or cow. These animals plow his fields, haul his heavy loads and turn his mill.

The last service which Korean cattle render to their masters is to be slaughtered for food or for hides. Since the expulsion of Buddhism by the Yi dynasty in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries, the people have been accustomed to the use of meat as an article of diet, particularly on all ceremonial occasions. As most of the farmers live in small isolated communities, the cattle market becomes his "social center," combining his club newspaper and debating society.

Professional Appraisal

A junkie was driving his waverling old car down a narrow London street. Behind him, traffic had to keep to his pace. An irate old man in a long, glittering town car had the chauffeur sounding the horn loud, long and insistently. The junkie turned his head, looked down along the polished perfection of the car, bowed low and said: "Right-o, guv'nor, I'll call for it tomorrow."—Boston Transcript

SOHIO refined to special summer specifications

Stops knocking, gives smooth, even power... and a cool motor

IN WARM WEATHER gasoline must meet vastly different conditions than exist during winter. The need for quick starting volatility vanishes. Gasoline must now have special qualities to provide smooth, sustained power for hard, fast driving.

Knocking becomes more pronounced in summer, particularly in modern high-compression motors, and in motors caked with carbon. The danger of overheating arises. A knocking motor labors on hills, causes excessive vibration, a noticeable loss of power and needless wear and tear on the engine.

Weeks ago engineers of the Standard Oil of Ohio began making Sohio to meet these special summer conditions. Summer Sohio Ethyl eliminates the troublesome knock, puts new snap into lazy, sluggish motors and gives you cool, quiet, dependable operation.

When you fill your tank with Summer Sohio Ethyl today, you'll find these outstanding improvements in your car's operation:

1. An end to knocking
2. Pre-ignition absolutely prevented
3. Smoother, more even power
4. Less need for frequent gear shifting

Summer Sohio is on sale everywhere in the State—at 700 Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and by thousands of dealers. Test it yourself—in your own car. You'll find that there IS a difference in gasoline!

RED CROWN changed, too

Following our established custom, Red Crown is also refined to special warm-weather standards.

BIBLE THOUGHT

THE EARTH'S PRESERVATION—Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. —Matthew 5:13.

PRAYER—May our ambition, Lord, be so to live that every day the earth may be purer and sweeter.

SEEING AMERICA

Highway officials, hotel proprietors and automobile men agree that automobile traffic this year in all parts of the country is more dense than in any previous year. This is the greatest automobile year in the greatest automobile country of the world.

Improved road conditions, greater prosperity of the people as a whole, the presence of what may be called "easy money" and the increasing desire among all classes for a vacation contribute to the heavy traffic to be observed everywhere.

Traffic fatalities will probably keep pace with the increasing number of cars on the road. Statistics already available indicate that this year will establish new records for number of grade crossing and other automobile accidents. It is not that the motorist and pedestrian are less careful, but that the proportion of accidents to volume of traffic will be maintained in spite of safety-first and cross-crossing cautiously campaigns and larger and better trained traffic squads.

This year's peak highway load will impress more forcibly upon the public mind the folly of building main highways narrow in order to obtain the greatest possible mileage with the money available. Narrow highways, especially at curves and steep grades, are responsible for unnumbered accidents.

When the motoring season is over and the tourist tide has reached its ebb the nation can count the cost in the dead and injured, wreckage, in curtailed production and neglected business. Will this cost be counteracted by the improved health of millions, a more contented people, a national intellect broadened by travel and prosperous automobile and accessory dealers, service station proprietors, hotel proprietors and the others of that vast army which depends for its bread upon the motorist?

WHAT PRICE HEALTH?

It is to the credit of the medical profession that earnest attention is being given the matter of treatment costs. A nation-wide survey is being launched under the leadership of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, himself a physician, and indications are that some important recommendations will eventually be made.

One of the paradoxical features of the situation is that, while medical attention is an extremely burdensome item in the budgets of middle class families, many practicing physicians are obtaining gross incomes which are by no means excessively large. A recent inquiry sets the average figure at approximately $5,000 annually—certainly not an unreasonable amount when consideration is given the cost of professional training and necessary technical equipment.

The problem, as will be seen, is by no means easy of solution. But if the medical profession itself can discover ways and means of putting fees on a more stable economic footing, without, at the same time, adding to the financial difficulties of practitioners in comparatively unprosperous sections of the country, a great service will be rendered to countless thousands of people to whom physical health has become a quite unobtainable luxury.

Georgia Miss Lawyer at Age of 19 Years

Decatur, Ga.—At the age of nineteen, Miss Irma von Nunez is a lawyer, although she never went to law school. The nineteen-year-old girl was admitted to the bar recently, the Georgia regulations allowing minors over eighteen to the bar, provided they pass the state examinations creditably.

Her first case was a divorce suit. She also has been before the state Supreme court in a damage suit action, still pending.

Height-eyed and cheery-faced, the young girl believes herself the youngest woman lawyer in the United States. "I never heard of any one younger, have you?" she asked the interviewer.

Her father, Tillon von Nunez, in whose office she practices, coached her after she graduated from high school, and so good a tutor was he that the state bar examinations were passed with honor in June, 1928.

Divorce cases interest her most, she said. The girl thinks folks marry too hastily and regret too soon.

Uncle Sam Owes Debt to Former Employees

Washington.—Fifty thousand persons in the United States can have an average of $20 each from the government merely by asking for it. But they don't.

They are former employees of the United States who paid from 2½ to 3½ per cent of their monthly salaries into a retirement fund and then evidently forgot it. The retirement division of the pension bureau is trying now to locate them.

Nearly all these persons, the bureau explained, remained in the government service but a short time and then went elsewhere. When they left they either forgot the money they had paid to the retirement fund or else left it with the government, thinking it would draw interest. But it does not.

Last year the comptroller general called on all government departments to make a list of former employees to whom refunds were due. A list of 8,500 of the 50,000 has been compiled to date.

Many of these were employees in navy yards, post offices, or the veterans' bureau. Some of them have only a few cents due them. Others have $500 or more.

Uncle Sam doesn't want to keep the money, for there are none of his accounts to which it can be permanently and legally credited. But he is having trouble finding its rightful owners.

Horse Thought Wins Big Fortune

Berlin.—A shot that was not fired brought a fortune to Baron von Oppenheim, one of the leading sportsmen of Germany.

The baron, who owns a great racing stable, had among his lot a horse called Oleander, which in 1925, had won a few races. One day it fell and could not get up again. Veterinary surgeons and other experts tried in vain to cure the horse. Finally they declared it had broken its pelvis and that nothing could be done but shoot the animal.

The trainer refused to kill the horse. For days and weeks he delayed the execution till finally Oleander got on its feet again. It raced during the 1927 season, won numerous races and brought his owner windfalls totaling 105,000 marks ($25,000).

Came the season of 1928. Oleander entered from victory to victory, won even the Austrian Grand Prix and gained the greatest sum ever won by a German horse in one year, 253,000 marks (roughly, $60,000).

Baron Oppenheim is said to have become somewhat skeptical about the knowledge of "experts."

Hundreds in Florida Live on Fur Industry

Arcadia, Fla.—Florida, wintertime home of the wealthy, boasts an industry virtually unknown to the far North in a fur trade that brings revenue to hundreds of trappers in this section.

Florida furs—raccoon, opossum, bobcat, skunk and fox—are to be found in many, many markets. Fur buyers with headquarters here estimate the annual income of the trappers who market skins and pelts for 70 cents to $1 each at nearly $15,000.

Alligator skins make up a large part of the trade in pelts. Good skins generally bring about $3, with no greater price to the seller for a fifteen-foot skin than for one seven feet in length.

Beggars in Hungary Must Pay Income Tax

Budapest, Hungary.—All beggars in Hungary must henceforth pay taxes on their incomes the same as all other citizens and must register their name and address with the police and prove their inability to work.

It came about when the government discovered that the president of the National Association of Hungarian Beggars had called a meeting of the association to be held at Szegedin recently. The meeting was promptly banned and dissolution of the organization demanded. When investigation proved that many beggars made more money than respectable workmen, the government came out with its drastic regulations.

ANOTHER WAY TO LOOK AT IT

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XXXVII.

CRYSTAL grasped his thin arm with fingers that tore through the cloth? About Ralph? Why he's been financing me—

He grinned as she broke off in confusion. "I know. Say you're kind of unlucky, you and your father due to lose his pile, and now the Sugar Papa, I'll begin to think you're a jinx!"

"Let's drown our sorrows," she said, and led him over to the music cabinet, where bottles, not music, were kept.

Over the Chianti she said, her arm around his neck. "By the way, that Cocklebur is a funny little fellow. Ugly, of course, but interested in art. I'd like to meet him sometime. Avery. You could bring him here—"

"You devil!" He kissed her white throat, and the tips of her little pink ears. "You damn gold-digger! All right, my cherie, I'll bring him. Now drink—to us."

But Crystal was on her feet, her finger to her lips. "Shh—quiet! The door bell! It's Ralph..." He picked up his hat, grinning. "Au revoir, sweet!"

She grabbed at his coat. "You can't go, stupid! He'll see you. Here—hide in the kitchen. No, not the kitchen—my dressing room! Hurry!"

She shut the inner door on him just as Ralph, impatient at the delay, rang again at the door. "Heavens, you scared me!" Crystal cried, perfectly honest for once in her life.

Then she saw the excitement that he was laboring under, his wild eyes and wet, rumpled hair. "Why, Ralph, what's the matter?"

"Oh nothing—and everything," he answered bitterly, and dropped into the nearest chair. "Just tired, perhaps. I've worked like a dog. I'm fed up with it."

She glanced quickly toward the dressing room door. Suppose Avery got tired waiting? It would be just like him to walk out if he did.

"Let's take a little ride, and you tell me about it," she coaxed. "It'll be good to get out in the fresh air."

He stirred, shifted his feet, as if he were about to comply. "No, I'll be damned if I will. I'd rather stay here. I've been on the go all day."

She thought she heard a faint creaker behind the door... Avery laughing at her defeat... "But I have a headache—I must get out—I'll just die if I don't."

"We'll begin to feel human." "No more for me, Ralph. You know I never—"

"Nonsense, Crystal, this'll do you good. Or maybe you don't like it straight. I'll go get some water."

"Oh no, no—I'll take it this way—" "There! You begin to look better all ready!" He looked at her approvingly, and patted her warm pink cheek. "Why, you're positively burning up!"

"It's nothing—I'm just tired—all worn out—" "Well, there's a pair of us!" He lapsed into silence again, hands in his pockets, feet spread out, staring straight ahead.

She thought of Avery's gossip. Financial troubles. The business tottering. "Is there anything wrong at the office?" she whispered.

"Wrong? Nothing else but, Crystal, I can't tell you the whole story, but briefly it's this. I'm so handicapped between that senile old fool Grady, and that cautious young fool Winters."

"But you could at least get rid of Winters—" He began to walk up and down. "You don't understand. I can't even do that. I've been carrying him for most of my life, and I'll have to go on. He'd starve if I threw him out. Besides, he worships me like a dog—I couldn't turn on him... he means well... he'd give up his life for me, but damn it, he'll drive me to suicide!"

"Couldn't you place him somewhere else?" she suggested practically. "I wish to heaven I had in the beginning. I may do that yet. He's a worker—just lacks initiative and sense, that's all. I'd be a millionaire now if I didn't have the two of them on me. Now they've yelped so much that the talk is leaking out on the street, and they've about ruined the business. That's what your friends would do to you. Friends! Lord! When it comes to business I'd rather be left to my enemies. I can fight them!"

Crystal was surprised at the thrill that shot through her, as she watched him, the big blond giant, striding up and down, waving his powerful arms, the muscles rippling under his light tweed coat. If only he had money, lots of money; if only... she clenched her shaking hands in her lap.

"Three million dollars, Crystal... do you realize that much money? Three million I'd have made, if they hadn't stopped me last June. Half a million on one deal alone. Do you wonder that I'm crazy? For two pins I'd throw up the whole thing—beat it off—play the market alone. I'd be rich in six months. Rich!"

She wet her dry lips. "But you need capital to start with—lots of money—" He whipped a wallet from his pocket, showed her a thick wad of bills. "Capital! I've got all I need. I've got enough to travel for a year or two, and get my nerve back, and still come back and put myself on the map. If I stay here in this dead outfit I'll never have more than thirty thousand a year—and what's that? I'm no piker. I don't want to live the simple life—I want—damn it—I want to live—"

He came and took her in his arms. "Excuse the oratory—I blew up—but it makes me so damn mad. If I didn't have you, I don't know what I'd do."

Her white hands played with his hair, she brushed his hot cheek lightly with her lips, the ghost of a kiss. Her heart was beating to Europe, a year of luxury, wealth to come.

"And if I didn't have you—oh, Ralph—if I didn't have you—she was murmuring. If only she could think. Think clearly... plan... make him say it now... and all she could think of was her mother's maxim, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Ralph was here—now. He was the bird in the hand—almost. Handsome, too... you could fall in love with him... if you could just forget Avery. Avery who was hiding in the dressing room, listening, listening...

"I can't bear it if you go away, and leave me," she whispered so low that only Ralph could hear. "I'm so lonely, too. And my mother keeps writing, driving me crazy. Oh if only I could get away, if only I had enough money to go to Europe too, if only... oh Ralph, what am I saying to you?"

He was lifting her lovely face in his hands, studying it wonderingly, unable to believe what he had heard.

If only he wouldn't talk so loud! Avery could hear every word. She writhed in fear, trying to hide her genuine confusion, trying to think "A bird in the hand, a bird in the hand." Around and around the silly idea flew in her head, pushing out the sane thoughts, the sound plans, and all the while she was listening, straining her ears for sounds in the dressing room, picturing what would happen if Avery walked out—which would be just like him...

"Career!" she managed to form the words with her parched lips. "What's a career compared to love? Don't you suppose I'd give all that up for—"

"By God, I'll do it! I'll give up this business. I'll pull my money out of it—every cent—and—"

A latch was turning. That scratching sound she had been hearing was getting louder... She was listening, too. She made one last desperate attempt. "You will take me, Ralph—you will, won't you? Tell me—tell me!"

The arm that had held her so tenderly tightened into a hand of steel, bruising her soft flesh—

"Come out of there! Move! Quick!"

THEATERS

JEANNE EAGLES STARS
Jeanne Eagles registered a triumph last night at the opening performance of "The Letter," Paramount's all-talking picturization of the W. Somerset Maugham stage success. The picture will be the featured attraction of the Clifton theatre Thursday. "The Letter" is an ideal all-talking picture presentation and Miss Eagles, supported by an exceptional cast, will seldom be seen to better advantage on stage or screen.

Miss Eagles, as a lady who loved neither too wisely nor too well, gave a characterization of a woman scorned that will not be forgotten easily by local theatergoers. Her magnetic personality held the audience in suspense from the opening scene to the closing one. Her voice registered well and proved aptly suited to the new form of screen entertainment. Little wonder that this superb actress has been worshipped by lovers of the drama in two hemispheres.

"SALLY IN OUD ALLEY"
A special cast will present "Sally in Our Alley" at the Grand theatre tonight. It is as refreshing as a mystery story. An all talking comedy "Eligible Mr. Bangs" also will be shown.

Facts About Furs

The most durable fur is that of the otter, with bear, beaver and seal coming next in order. Natural mink is more durable than Persian lamb, and sable less lasting than either. Cooney is the least durable of any fur, and the skin of the mole comes next in lack of lasting power.

Art of Weaving

Recent scientific discoveries indicate that the textile industry is approximately 10,000 years old and that the weaving of cloth is the first superior artistry undertaken by man. Cloth woven by the Swiss Lake dwellers appears to have been a very acceptable forerunner of the fabrics of today. The ancient looms, parts of which have been found, bear a striking mechanical resemblance to modern looms.

Miss Madge Trego spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Helwagen of Columbus, a former resident of Commercial Point. Mrs. Kate Peters is ill at this writing. Mrs. Lawrence Lane is recovering nicely. A large number of people attended the lecture, given by Rev. Alexander, at the M. E. church Thursday evening.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and he believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.

"Yellow Bird" Stowaway French Pet

There have been all sorts of air records made—the first trans-Atlantic hop, the first non-stop trans-Atlantic solo flight, the re-fueling endurance record, et cetera, but the first non-stop trans-Atlantic plane to carry a stowaway was the French ship, "Yellow Bird," which took off from Old Orchard, Me., quite innocent of the fact that it carried Arthur Schreiber, 22-year-old Portland boy. Here is Arthur being carried on the shoulders of an admiring throng upon the arrival of the airplane at Le Bourget airport, France, where the Maine boy was greeted with almost as much acclaim as the fliers, Lotti, Assolant and Lefevre.

WILLIAMSPORT

Mrs. C. E. Hill and daughter Helen, visited Columbus friends a few days of last week.

SOCIETY

WARNER CHILDREN ARE HONORED

Jane Littleton was the charming and youthful hostess Wednesday at noon to a luncheon at her home on N. Pickaway-st with five of her friends as guests. The party was given for the pleasure of Nancy Warner and Lenora Warner of Detroit, who are spending the spring and early summer in Circleville and who will return to their home next week. The girls who were present at the luncheon were Catherine Foresman, Anne Vierebome, Lenora Warner, Nancy Warner and the hostess and Mary Ann Sapp of Bainbridge, who is visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lynch of S. Court st.

HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Miss Helen Schiear entertained the members of her bridge club Wednesday night at her home. Miss Louise Mason was a guest of the club.

TO BE MARRIED SUNDAY EVENING

The marriage of Miss Vera I. Walters and George L. Troutman will be solemnized Sunday evening, June 23, at 6:30 o'clock. This ceremony will take place during the evening service. Professor N. Mentor will conduct the worship and preach the sermon and the pastor will perform the nuptial rites. Every member of the Lutheran parish is invited to be present at this marriage service.

SPORT DANCE TO BE SOMETHING NEW

Social interest will be centered Friday night on the dance at the Elks home which is being sponsored by a group of young men of this city. They are calling it a sports dance which would indicate that sports costumes will be okay, and everyone will be comfortable. The music will be good, and plans for a real dance have been completed. The sponsors of the dance are Jim Gatrell, Felix Smith, Bob Smith, John Abernethy, Ralph Morris, Bob Palm, Sam Nagle and Tom Ryan. Sam Nagle of Jersey City, is the guest of Felix Smith.

Oxen Play Important Part in Korean Life

The Korean people are most industrious workers of the soil, and from time immemorial oxen have borne the brunt of the battle. Methods of cultivation preclude the use of mechanical devices and, as the native horse is too small for farm labor, the farmer's main beast of burden is his ox or cow. These animals plow his fields, haul his heavy loads and turn his mill.

The last service which Korean cattle render to their masters is to be slaughtered for food or for hides. Since the expulsion of Buddhism by the Yi dynasty in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries, the people have been accustomed to the use of meat as an article of diet, particularly on all ceremonial occasions. As most of the farm ers live in small isolated communities, the cattle market became the "social center," combining his club newspaper and debating society.

Professional Appraisal

A junkie was driving his waver ing old cart down a narrow London street. Behind him, traffic had to keep to his pace. An irate old man in a long, glittering town car had the chauffeur sounding the horn loud, long and insistently. The junkie turned his head, looked down along the polished perfection of the car, bowed low and said: "Right-o, guv'nor. I'll call for it tomorrow."—Boston Transcript.

SOHIO refined to special summer specifications

Stops knocking, gives smooth, even power... and a cool motor

IN WARM WEATHER gasoline must meet vastly different conditions than exist during winter. The need for quick starting volatility vanishes. Gasoline must now have special qualities to provide smooth, sustained power for hard, fast driving.

Knocking becomes more pronounced in summer, particularly in modern high-compression motors, and in motors caked with carbon. The danger of overheating arises. A knocking motor labors on hills, causes excessive vibration, a noticeable loss of power and needless wear and tear on the engine.

Weeks ago engineers of the Standard Oil of Ohio began making Sohio to meet these special summer conditions. Summer Sohio Ethyl eliminates the troublesome knock, puts new snap into lazy, sluggish motors and gives you cool, quiet, dependable operation. When you fill your tank with Summer Sohio Ethyl today, you'll find these outstanding improvements in your car's operation:

1. An end to knocking
2. Pre-ignition absolutely prevented
3. Smoother, more even power
4. Less need for frequent gear shifting

Summer Sohio is on sale everywhere in the State—at 700 Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and by thousands of dealers. Test it yourself—in your own car. You'll find that there IS a difference in gasoline!

TUBERCULOSIS FEAR IS OFTEN UNFOUNDED
Expectoration of Blood, a Symptom Always Associated with the Dread Disease, May Come from Any Member of Minor Causes, Says Dr. Copeland.
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.
EVERYBODY has a dread of tuberculosis. This used to be such a common and fatal disease that all mankind came to fear it.
One of the achievements of modern science is the progress it has made in conquering tuberculosis. It is disappearing rapidly, thanks to general knowledge of personal hygiene.
We may hope to see it disappear as one of the major ailments.
A symptom which is almost always associated with tuberculosis is bleeding from the lungs. No matter whence it came, blood in the sputum always alarms the victim. At once he wonders if there is something dreadfully wrong.
"Hemoptysis" is the term given to such ex-pectoration of blood. Not by any means is blood in the sputum due to a serious disturbance.
It may come from bleeding from the gums, or from a cut place in the tongue or inside of the cheek. A crust of bread or a rough tooth may injure the delicate tissues and cause hemorrhage.
Following a severe attack of coughing there may be a rupture of the tissues in the throat. In consequence, the sputum may be stained with blood.
While we are about it, we better speak of other conditions that cause bleeding and its expulsion from the mouth. I had not thought to be quite so technical, but having begun, it may be better to complete the story.
In hemoptysis the blood is coughed up.
The discharge is bright red and quite frothy. It is mixed with air.
There is another condition called "hematemesis." This term is used to describe bleeding from the stomach.
In this condition the blood is indeed to be vomited up, but of course may be expelled in small quantities.
This is a much more serious thing than hemoptysis. It is due to some disease of the stomach, as ulcer or something even more important.
If much blood is expelled no matter what its source, the important thing is to keep absolutely still. An accident over the throat, chest or stomach, wherever it appears is the place from which the blood comes will help to control the bleeding.
If the blood comes from the mouth or throat, bits of ice held in the mouth will be useful. The cold tends to stop the bleeding.
Unless you locate the seat of trouble, talk with your doctor. If ten moved from my face by the electric needle it is now noticeable again

Answers to Health Queries
E G Q-How much should a boy 14 5 feet 8 inches tall weigh?
A-He should weigh about 132 pounds.
Miss L. G. A. Q-My father, a man of 51 with no bad habits awakes every morning with a nervous feeling throughout his entire body and numbness in the right leg and arm at times. He also suffers with sleeplessness-what do you advise?
A-Probably due to poor circulation. Massage should help the numbness but it would be wise to improve the health in general and in this way increase the circulation.
With better health he will probably enjoy sound, restful sleep.

First Lady's Worries
Mrs. John Adams, wife of the second President, found it necesfrom a letter written to a member of her family shortly after her ar-things were broken or stolen." Her efforts to replace the missing pieces evidently were fruitless, for she remarked later in the letter that

CHICAGO CUBS ONCE MORE IN LEAGUE'S LEAD

McCarthy's Maulers Defeat Cards in Twin Bill—Pirates Runners-up.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Chicago Cubs, who have been letting St. Louis and Pittsburgh set the pace in the National League scramble, are back in first place today as the culmination of a steady climb since their disastrous series with the Giants. McCarthy's maulers dote on home cooking and have been creeping ahead slowly but surely on their own grounds during the past two weeks.

The Bruins' double triumph over the Cardinals yesterday, by scores of 7 to 3 and 11 to 3, has revived the pennant hopes of Chicago fans. Pat Malone won his tenth game of the season in the first game, thanks to Wilson's homer with two on and four hits by Hornsby. In the nightcap Sylvester Johnson of the Cards couldn't locate the plate and lost his first game of the season.

PIRATES BEAT REDS

The Cardinals flopped all the way to third place below the Pirates, who got off to a six-run lead against Cincinnati but just lasted to the wire to win by a nose, 6 to 5. Manager Hendricks of the Reds hurled 16 players into the breach but unfortunately was allowed to use only nine at one time.

Baker bowl, the cradle of circuit clouts, ushered eight new home runs into the world as the Giants debauched the Phillies twice, 15 to 14 and 12 to 6, in more than six hours of alleged baseball. The opener lasted 11 innings. Roush got eight hits and Ott seven, and each player smacked two homers.

With Smith and Seibold doing the throwing, the Braves subdued Brooklyn twice, 8 to 4 and 9 to 0. Clark and Dudley, the Brooklyn hurlers, were hit harder than Max Schmeling's sparring partners.

CRUCIAL SERIES

The embattled Yankees will face the Athletics tomorrow with a 7½ game deficit, but with renewed confidence gained by their 13 to 2 slaughter of the Red Sox yesterday. The champions rapped out 20 hits for a total of 31 bases while Dead Pan Eddie Wells was pulverizing the Boston batters.

The Yanks got so far ahead that Bob Meusel, never noted for his energy, walked after a fly by Alex Gaston, allowing that lucky

HOYT'S COMPOUND GREATEST EVER

Health Restored To Ohio Boy
9 Years of Age.

Many remarkable cures from the great Hoyt's Compound are being reported every day at Wilder's Pharmacy, Circleville, where the Hoyt man is daily meeting the crowds who call there to see him and introducing and explaining the merits of this great compound to them.

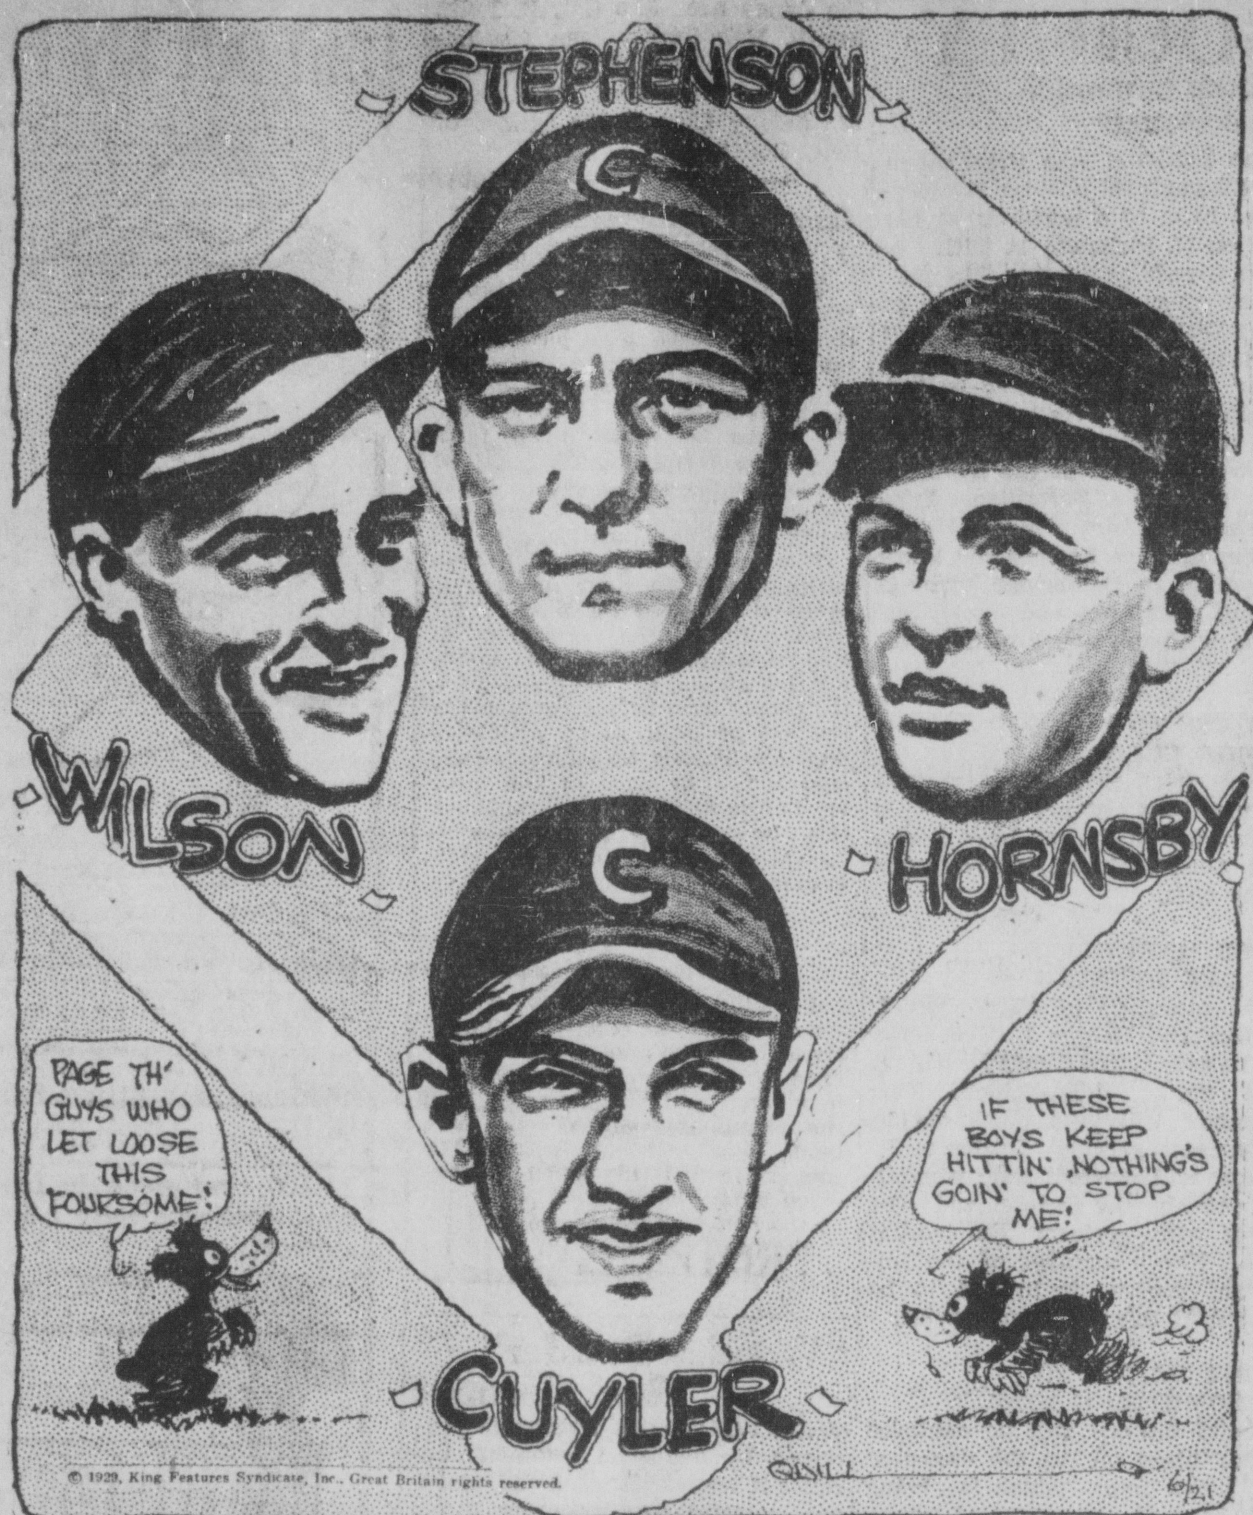

DALLAS CLELAND

The latest statement to come from a Chillicothe resident is the startling case of Dallas Cleland, little nine-year-old lad who after seven operations was almost a total wreck when his parents found Hoyt's Compound, and the way this great medicine restored is little short of remarkable. This boy was afflicted with an inner infection for which he underwent SEVEN OPERATIONS. These operations left him in a very unhealthful condition. He became frail and weak, had no appetite and seemingly had no blood to speak of. Then his parents heard of many Chillicothe residents praising Hoyt's Compound that they knew it must have merit. They purchased three bottles of Hoyt's for this boy and now he is completely changed in every way. His appetite is very good. He has gained in weight and the old affliction. The parents are very much enthused over the results they obtained from Hoyt's and heartily recommend it for children of a rundown condition, loss of appetite and as a body builder. This boy has lived in Ross county for two years and his present address is Williamsport, Ohio.

Hoyt's Compound is sold at Wilder's drug store, Circleville; also sold by all leading druggists everywhere.

young man to make a home run.

Meusel was a terror at bat, however, walloping four hits. George Ruth, the big crab and fish man of Chesapeake Bay, made one appearance at bat and gracefully grounded out.

The champions have been unable to shake off the St. Louis Browns, who scored their ninth win in 10 starts against the White Sox, 5 to 2. Adkins outpitched Gray but his wildness was costly. The Tigers were clawing the Indians viciously when rain ended the feast after six innings, with Detroit leading 8 to 3.

TARLTON

Vicious Literature

Secret distribution of vicious literature, distorting the truth in an effort to mislead the public, cannot offset the fact that only the finest tobacco—the cream of the crop—is used in Lucky Strike Cigarettes. Leaders of sport, art and fashion testify to the improved flavor. 20,679* physicians say soothing does in fact make Luckies less irritating to the throat. And the public confirms these opinions. Increase in sales, greater than all other cigarettes combined, prove world-wide confidence in Lucky Strike.

NEW HOLLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clifton and son Charles Jr., spent Sunday in Chillicothe with Mr. Clifton's brother, John Clifton.

Miss Mary and William Porter are entertaining their sister, Mrs. James Darby at Worthington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lynch and daughter Susan, of Columbus, were guests last Sunday of Miss Nellie Monteith.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Ancil Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Cash Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heath were among those who attended the New Holland-Columbus reunion at Columbus last Sunday.

The annual New Holland-Columbus reunion was held last Sunday at Washington Park, Columbus. A goodly number of persons from here attended the affair. The officers elected are: President, Mrs. Sada Riley; vice president, Mrs. Nellie Stinson; secretary, Mrs. Laurel Timmons; treasurer, Mrs. Helen Taylor; historian, Miss Agnes Kerrigan. The picnic lunch was served at the noon hour in the shelter house of the park. Entertainment was furnished for everyone during the afternoon.

Miss Ethel Asher returned to her home last of the week from Lima, where she has been teaching in the school. She entered Ohio State university on Monday where she will attend summer school.

GOOD CHEER CIRCLE MEETS

The Good Cheer Circle met at the M. E. church last Friday afternoon for the June meeting. Included in the business was the election of officers. Miss Jonnie Davis presided and the election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Mabel French; vice president, Mrs. Mae Kibler; second vice president, Mrs. Ethel Kaier; secretary, Miss Iva Heath; treasurer, Mrs. Marie Briggs; press correspondent, Mrs. Lena James. A short program followed including a piano solo by Mrs. Mabel French; reading, Mrs. Minnie Jennings and vocal solo, Mrs. Mabel French. A picnic supper was enjoyed.

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAM

The children's day program was given at the M. E. church last Sunday evening. The program committee, Mrs. Mabel French and Mrs. Elzy Radcliffe deserve much credit for their efforts in making it a success. An epidemic of whooping cough in the community made it impossible for a number of the children to be present. Following is the program:

Song, Junior choir; Invocation, Rev. M. R. Crabbe; Welcome, Charles Shasteen; Reading, Phyllis Wood; Song, Janet Curry; Musical Reading, Ruth Grabbill; Vocal Solo, Betsy Briggs; Reading, Ellen Jean Lewis; Musical Reading, Geraldine Jennings; Pageant, June Blessings; "Father Time," Irene Wright; "June," Edna Melvin.

Miss Mae Jester is in Columbus attending commercial school.

Miss Geneva Kennedy is spending several days in Toledo with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kennedy.

First Lady's Worries

Mrs. John Adams, wife of the second President, found it necessary to bring with her much of her own chin when she took over the duties of first lady, and with disastrous results to the china, judging from a letter written to a member of her family shortly after her arrival, deploring the fact that "many things were broken or stolen." Her efforts to replace the missing pieces evidently were fruitless, for she remarked later in the letter that "Georgetown affords nothing."—Detroit News.

TUBERCULOSIS FEAR IS OFTEN UNFOUNDED

Expectoration of Blood, a Symptom Always Associated with the Dread Disease, May Come from Any Member of Minor Causes, Says Dr. Copeland.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

EVERYBODY has a dread of tuberculosis. This used to be such a common and fatal disease that all mankind came to fear it. One of the achievements of modern science is the progress it has made in conquering tuberculosis. It is disappearing rapidly, thanks to general knowledge of personal hygiene.

We may hope to see it disappear as one of the major ailments.

A symptom which is almost always associated with tuberculosis is bleeding from the lungs. No matter whence it came, blood in the sputum always alarms the victim. At once he wonders if there is something dreadfully wrong.

"Hemoptysis" is the term given to such expectoration of blood. Not by any means is blood in the sputum due to a serious disturbance.

It may come from bleeding from the gums, or from a cut place in the tongue or inside of the cheek. A crust of bread or a rough tooth may injure the delicate tissues and cause hemorrhage.

Following a severe attack of coughing there may be a rupture of the tissues in the throat. In consequence, the sputum may be stained with blood.

While we are about it, we better speak of other conditions that cause bleeding and its expulsion from the mouth. I had not thought to be quite so technical, but having begun, it may be better to complete the story.

In hemoptysis the blood is coughed up. The discharge is bright red and quite frothy. It is mixed with air.

There is another condition called "hematemesis." This term is used to describe bleeding from the stomach.

In this condition the blood is likely to be vomited up, but, of course, may be expelled in small quantities. This is a much more serious thing than hemoptysis. It is due to some disease of the stomach, as ulcer or something even more important.

If much blood is expelled, no matter what its source, the important thing is to keep absolutely still. An ice-bag over the throat, chest or stomach, wherever it appears, is the place from which the blood comes, will help to control the bleeding.

If the blood comes from the mouth or throat, bits of ice held in the mouth will be useful. The cold tends to stop the bleeding.

Unless you locate the seat of trouble, talk with your doctor. If the bleeding continues or is profuse he should be called at once.

In the meantime keep quiet in bed. Have the pillows high, so as to raise the upper part of the body. Remember that a lot of blood can come from a very small spot. You have cut your finger just a tiny bit and bled furiously. So don't think you have some dreadful thing wrong with you. The chances are all on your side.

Answers to Health Queries

E. G. Q.—How much should a boy 14, 5 feet 8 inches tall weigh?

A.—He should weigh about 132 pounds.

Miss L. G. A. Q.—My father, a man of 51, with no bad habits, awakes every morning with a nervous feeling throughout his entire body and numbness in the right leg and arm at times. He also suffers with sleeplessness—what do you advise?

A.—Probably due to poor circulation. Massage should help the numbness, but it would be wise to improve the health in general and in this way increase the circulation. With better health he will probably enjoy sound, restful sleep.

Miss L. E. R. Q.—About ten years ago I had a small mole removed from my face by the electric needle—it is now noticeable again and I would like to know if there is anything that can be done to prevent its entire re-growth?

A.—See a skin specialist for advice.

Infant Identification

Identifying babies is so hard sometimes that the authorities of the canton of Argovie, Switzerland have adopted the Berillon system for newborn babies in order to avoid litigation concerning the identity of the child in later years. Babies must be measured, weighed, their finger prints taken, and any birth marks noted on an official form, for which the doctor and nurse are responsible, as well as for the legal registration of the babies. Further, the parents of the child must sign the documents, so as to avoid any mistake.

TARLTON INSTITUTE VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Tarlton w. C. T. U. held a very interesting and successful institute at the home of Miss Mary Porter on Friday, June 14. The morning session opened by singing "America the Beautiful," and "March of the Minutemen," with Mrs. Val Valentine, president, presiding. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Val Valentine who read part of the 25th chapter of St. Matthew followed by prayer by Mrs. Abbie Gussman. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Mrs. Myrtle Gill. A playlet "Mrs. Smith's Ten Talking Points" was given by the ladies of the Salem Union followed by song "Work For Your Quota Where You Are." Mrs. Alice Brundage gave a reading, "A True Story" and Mrs. Val Valentine recited a poem, "Our Union Signal." The following local directors gave short talks on their work: "Publicity" Mrs. Myrtle Gill; "Child Welfare" Miss Mary Porter; "Evangelistic" Mrs. Val Valentine; "Parliamentary Law," Miss Mary Porter; "Flower Mission," Miss Nellie Ryan. The morning session closed by singing "Beautiful Hour of Noon-tide" and prayer by Mrs. Mary Dunlap followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. A covered dish luncheon was served cafeteria style at noon which was enjoyed by all.

The afternoon session opened by singing "Some Glad Day." Miss Mary Porter had charge of the devotionals, reading the 14th verse of the 28th chapter of Deut. followed by prayer by Rev. Hill of Stoutsville. After singing the song, "Victory Bells," Mrs. Lucy B. Price, county president, gave a very interesting and helpful talk. Mrs. Abbie Gussman gave a very inspiring talk on her department work. Rev. Hill gave a fine address on "Give Prohibition a Chance in the Home, in Society, and in the Press" followed by a song, "Work For Enforcement Where You Are." A playlet "Un-to the Least of These," was presented by Miss Mary Harpster, Mrs. Louise Morris, Mrs. Bessie Allen, Mrs. Alice Brundage and Mrs. Myrtle Gill. Mrs. Julia Weaver of Walnut-twp. county director of motion pictures gave a talk on her work also Mrs. Mary S. Rife, county director of Soldiers and Sailors. A reading, "The Woman's Crusade" was given by Miss Mary L. Harpster. The meeting closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and repeating the W. C. T. U. benediction.

The visitors present were: Mrs. Abbie Gussman, Mrs. Lucy B. Price, Mrs. Mary Dunlap, Mrs. Mary S. Rife, of Circleville; Miss Mary L. Harpster, Mrs. Louise Morris, Mrs. Bessie Allen, Mrs. Alice Brundage, Mrs. Flora Shoemaker, Mrs. Lillian Hinton and Mrs. Jennie Yapple of the Salem Union; Mrs. Julia Weaver of the Walnut-twp. Union and Rev. Hill of Stoutsville.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE OF THEIR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. James Valentine of Amanda, announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Mr.

Myrl Smith. The wedding took place Wednesday, June 19, at 3:30 o'clock at the Israel Lutheran church in Amanda.

LUNCHEON-BRIDGE AT COUNTRY CLUB

The enclosed porch at the Country club was the scene Wednesday of one of the loveliest social functions ever held there, when Mrs. T. J. Jeffries and Mrs. T. O. Gilliland entertained at 12:30 o'clock with a luncheon-bridge. Quantities of summer garden flowers were used lavishly for decorations in baskets, vases and wall pockets. Dorothy Perkins roses in green baskets were especially effective, and hardy sweetpeas, daisies, coreopsis and lilies composed the other bouquets.

After lunch, 11 tables of bridge players enjoyed five games of bridge, at which Mrs. Will Avis and Mrs. Robert Brehrer excelled and received handsome prizes from the hostesses. The pleasure of the afternoon was augmented by the presence of a number of guests from out of the city. These were Mrs. Joe Hedges and Mrs. Clyde Brinker of Ashville; Mrs. Joseph Kuntz and Mrs. George Poos of Eaton, O.; Miss Mary F. Brown, Miss Kathleen Brown, Miss Agnes Brown and Mrs. George Beavers of Columbus; Mrs. Price Ashbrook of Chillicothe; Mrs. Elizabeth West and Mrs. David Bradley of Cincinnati and Mrs. Roland Wood, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Gilliland and Mrs. Jeffries were assisted by Mrs. West, Mrs. Henry Mader, Mrs. Ralph Curtain, Mrs. Robert Brehrer and Mrs. Charles Fellers.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MRS. ROY EHLERS

Mrs. Glen Riffin entertained Tuesday night at the home of her mother and father-in-law in Atlanta, with a miscellaneous shower, given in honor of Mrs. Roy Ehlers of Columbus, formerly Miss Helene Pickens of Circleville. Most of the guests were from Circleville and enjoyed a delightful evening of bridge which was ended by the serving of a two course lunch by the hostess. She was assisted by Miss Martha Bartley and Miss Evelyn Steele. At the game of bridge, the prize winners were Mrs. Homer Gleadell, Miss Eula Steele and the guest of honor, Mrs. Ehlers.

AT COMMENCEMENT OF CAPITAL

Attending the Capital university graduation exercises Wednesday morning in Columbus, from Circleville were Rev. G. J. Troutman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Dowden, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. John C. M. Bowsher. Dinner preceded the inspection.

IS HOSTESS TO SOROSIS CLUB

A very pleasant time was enjoyed Monday evening, June 17, when Miss Ruth Ater, of Williamsport, entertained the Sorosis club at her home with seven members and two guests present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Edna Newhouse, followed by the opening song, "America" and the Lord's prayer. Devotional was read by Mrs. Bessie Schleich. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The members answered the roll call by giving a "Famous Woman Response." The treasurer's report was given and the business session held.

Mrs. Bessie Schleich, leader of the evening, prepared a very interesting program which was as follows:

Reading—"June the Month of Brides and Roses,"

Reading, "Evolution of the Cake" ... Mrs. Marybelle Shaw

Poem, "My Garden" ... Miss Laura McGhee

Reading, "The Storehouse" ... Miss Carolyn Bochar

Joke page ... Mrs. Schleich

Recitation ... Norma Jean Schleich

Several vocal solos which were given by Miss Laura McGhee were greatly enjoyed by all.

At the close of the meeting the hostess assisted by Mrs. Esther Wardell and Mrs. Marybelle Shaw served delicious refreshments of ice cream, strawberries, cake and coffee.

ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

sets new standard of DURABILITY EFFICIENCY POPULARITY

AN all-steel cabinet that cannot warp. A mechanism that is hermetically sealed, dust-proof and self-oiling. No wonder the General Electric Refrigerator has set new standards! It actually operates more quietly—it uses less current, it provides the maximum food storage capacity.

And—important to busy housewives, it operates automatically, regulating itself so that the temperature is always within the safety zone—several degrees below 50.

These new all-steel models are remarkably low in price, beginning at $215, at the factory. They are as durable as a safe and cannot warp. They keep cold from seeping out and heat from creeping in more effectively than any previous refrigerator ever offered.

Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel models and learn how easily they may be bought with conveniently spaced time payments.

There are now over 2,000,000 users of General Electric Refrigerators. Not one of them has ever spent a single dollar for repairs or service. That was our guarantee to them.

Be sure to listen in on the General Electric Hour broadcasting every Saturday Evening from 8 to 9 Eastern Standard Time over the N. B. C. network of forty-two stations.

TARLTON INSTITUTE VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Tarlton w. C. T. U. held a very interesting and successful institute at the home of Miss Mary Porter on Friday, June 14. The morning session opened by singing "America the Beautiful," and "March of the Minutemen," with Mrs. Val Valentine, president, presiding. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Val Valentine who read part of the 75th chapter of St. Matthew followed by prayer by Mrs. Abbie Gussman. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Gill. A playlet, "Mrs. Smith's Ten Talking Points," was given by the ladies of the Salem Union followed by song, "Work For Your Quota Where You Are." Mrs. Alice Brundige gave a reading, "A True Story" and Mrs. Val Valentine recited a poem, "Our Union Signal." The following local directors gave short talks on their work: "Publicity," Mrs. Myrtle Gill; "Child Welfare," Miss Mary Porter; "Evangelistic," Mrs. Val Valentine; "Parliamentary Law," Miss Mary Porter; "Flower Mission," Miss Nellie Ryan. The morning session closed by singing "Beautiful Hour of Noon-tide" and prayer by Mrs. Mary Dunlap followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. A covered dish luncheon was served cafeteria style at noon which was enjoyed by all.

The afternoon session opened by singing "Some Glad Day." Miss Mary Porter had charge of the devotionals, reading the 14th verse of the 28th chapter of Deut. followed by prayer by Rev. Hill of Stoutsville. After singing the song, "Victory Bells," Mrs. Lucy B. Price, county president, gave a very interesting and helpful talk. Mrs. Abbie Gussman gave a very inspiring talk on her department work. Rev. Hill gave a fine address on "Give Prohibition a Chance in the Home, in Society, and in the Press," followed by a song, "Work For Enforcement Where You Are." A playlet "Un-to the Least of These," was presented by Miss Mary Harpster, Mrs. Louise Morris, Mrs. Bessie Allen, Mrs. Alice Brundige and Mrs. Myrtle Gill. Mrs. Julia Weaver of Walnut-twp, county director of motion pictures, gave a talk on her work also Mrs. Mary S. Rife, county director of Soldiers and Sailors. A reading, "The Woman's Crusade" was given by Miss Mary L. Harpster. The meeting closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and repeating the W. C. T. U. benediction.

The visitors present were: Mrs. Abbie Gussman, Mrs. Lucy B. Price, Mrs. Mary Dunlap, Mrs. Mary S. Rife, of Circleville; Miss Mary L. Harpster, Mrs. Louise Morris, Mrs. Bessie Allen, Mrs. Alice Brundige, Mrs. Flora Shoemaker, Mrs. Lillian Hinton and Mrs. Jennie Yapple of the Salem Union; Mrs. Julia Weaver of the Walnut-twp Union and Rev. Hill of Stoutsville.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE OF THEIR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. James Valentine of Amanda, announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Mr.

Myrl Smith. The wedding took place Wednesday, June 19, at 3:30 o'clock at the Israel Lutheran church in Amanda.

LUNCHEON-BRIDGE AT COUNTRY CLUB

The enclosed porch at the Country club was the scene Wednesday of one of the loveliest social functions ever held there, when Mrs. T. J. Jeffries and Mrs. T. O. Gilliland entertained at 12:30 o'clock with a luncheon-bridge. Quantities of summer garden flowers were used lavishly for decorations in baskets, vases and wall pockets. Dorothy Perkins roses in green baskets were especially effective, and hardy sweetpeas, daisies, coreopsis and lilies composed the other bouquets.

After lunch, 11 tables of bridge players enjoyed five games of bridge, at which Mrs. Will Avis and Mrs. Robert Brehmer excelled and received handsome prizes from the hostesses. The pleasure of the afternoon was augmented by the presence of a number of guests from out of the city. These were Mrs. Joe Hedges and Mrs. Clyde Brinker of Ashville; Mrs. Joseph Kuntz and Mrs. George Poos of Eaton, O.; Miss Mary F. Brown, Miss Kathleen Brown, Miss Agnes Brown and Mrs. George Beavers of Columbus; Mrs. Price Ashbrook of Chillicothe; Mrs. Elizabeth West and Mrs. David Bradley of Cincinnati and Mrs. Roland Wood, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Gilliland and Mrs. Jeffries were assisted by Mrs. West, Mrs. Henry Mader, Mrs. Ralph Curtin, Mrs. Robert Brehmer and Mrs. Charles Fellers.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MRS. ROY EHLERS

Mrs. Glen Riggan entertained Tuesday night at the home of her mother and father-in-law in Atlanta, with a miscellaneous shower, given in honor of Mrs. Roy Ehlers of Columbus, formerly Miss Helebe Pickens of Circleville. Most of the guests were from Circleville and enjoyed a delightful evening of bridge which was ended by the serving of a two course lunch by the hostess. She was assisted by Miss Martha Bartley and Miss Evelyn Steele. At the game of bridge, the prize winners were Mrs. Homer Gleadell, Miss Eula Steele and the guest of honor, Mrs. Ehlers.

AT COMMENCEMENT OF CAPITAL

Attending the Capital university graduation exercises Wednesday morning in Columbus, from Circleville were Rev. G. J. Troutman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Dowden, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Goeller, Mrs. Germain Joseph, Miss Fanny Joseph, Miss Helen Joseph, Samuel Joseph, Mrs. C. A. Leist, Miss Ethel Rife and Miss Helen Hoffman. Miss Carolyn David, of Jackson also attended the ceremonies.

SELECT GIRLS TO REPRESENT COUNTY

Eight girls from Pickaway-co have been selected to represent the 4-H clubs at southwest district camp at Yellow Springs from July 8 to 13.

The selections were made on merits as representative girls in 4-H club work and girls that would be able to return to the county to help with the club activities of the summer.

The following girls have been honored: Miss Helen Gulick, Derby, route 1; Miss Dorothy Miller, route 3; Miss Mary Margaret List, Orient; Miss Virginia Anderson, Circleville; Miss Betty Fischer, Circleville, route 5; Miss Laura Tener, Williamsport; Miss Judith Schlegel, Ashville; Miss Marian Strous, Laurelville.

Among those from Evergreen chapter No. 163, Adelphi, that attended the inspection of Kingston chapter, were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Armstrong, Mrs. Hazel Bower, Mrs. Margaret Good, Mrs. Florence Rihl, Mrs. Florence Bowscher, Mrs. Florence Hemmeger, Mrs. Elva Cryder, Mrs. Ida Leshner, Mrs. Bessie Brown, Misses Florence Bowscher, Ruth Barton, Mildred and Pauline Bowscher and F. M. Bowscher. Dinner preceded the inspection.

IS HOSTESS TO SOROSIS CLUB

A very pleasant time was enjoyed Monday evening, June 17, when Miss Ruth Ater, of Williamsport, entertained the Sorosis club at her home with seven members and two guests present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Edna Newhouse, followed by the opening son, "America" and the Lord's prayer. Devotional was read by Mrs. Bessie Schleich. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The members answered the roll call by giving a "Famous Woman Response." The treasurer's report was given and the business session held.

Mrs. Bessie Schleich, leader of the evening, prepared a very interesting program which was as follows:

Reading—"June the Month of Brides and Roses," Mrs. Bessie Schleich
Reading, "Evolution of the Cake," Mrs. Marybelle Shaw
Poem, "My Garden," Mrs. Marybelle Shaw
Reading, "The Storehouse," Miss Laura McGhee
Joke page, Mrs. Carolyn Bochart
Recitation, Norma Jean Schleich
Several vocal solos which were given by Miss Laura McGhee were greatly enjoyed by all.
At the close of the meeting the hostess assisted by Mrs. Esther Wardell and Mrs. Marybelle Shaw served delicious refreshments of ice cream, strawberries, cake and coffee.
